A PROGRAMME FOR GAMERS

Make the most of your gaming skills in the real world, and apply them to a new job!

The qualities that make you a good gamer can also have real value in the workplace. Across the month of July 2024, people from all walks of professional life, including the games industry, will give you advice and insight into how you can build a career utilising your skills as a gamer. The course features:

- An analysis of your work skills based upon your game play
- Live projects set by busy, successful games studios
- Talks from knowledgeable industry professionals
- Employability and CV workshops
- Online skills-building and Game Jams

The course is open only to people 16-18yrs not in work or education and living in South Yorkshire. It is entirely online. You don't need any particular software and players of any games can benefit from it.
